

AT THE THEATRES

"THE COLLEGE WIDOW."

"Buster Brown" is scheduled for three more performances at the Grand, and at the matinee tomorrow the house will be packed. Seats are now selling for "The College Widow," which opens Sunday night for five performances. The sale indicates remarkable interest in the engagement of this highly successful comedy. Ade seems certainly to have struck the bull's-eye of popular approval in this good natured satire of American college life and Henry W. Savage is sending to us a well nigh perfect cast, as well as a production of rare beauty and good taste. There is said to be not an irrelevant moment in "The Widow" and the piece attracts the eye as well as the ear. It is declared to be an entertainment of rare interest and enjoyment throughout.
